REVAN

Season 1 - The Butcherer

Revan - Episode 07 – Tatooine:

We open to Revan silently walking into the mess hall, Meetra and Malak are sitting there talking about the war. Revan stops and then bends over laughing in disbelief, they both turn, Revan says:

"You pick the perfect times to show up."

Meetra walks over to him and says:

"Reven."

And hugs him. He says:

"It's good to see you again Meetra."

The hug breaks and she says:

"So how is Darth Reven?"

He takes off his mask and says:

"You know... it's going slowly but surely."

He sits with them. Revan says:

"How's the exile?"

She says:

“Oh fun, many vacations. You’d be surprised how much work there is for Jedi who no longer are Jedi.”

Revan smiles and looks up her with blood shot eyes and says:

“Bounty hunting?”

She laughs and says:

“No no, mostly private security contracting.”

Malak says:

“So, espionage?”

Revan smiles and says:

“Change the words and they’re not as harsh, are they?”

Meetra says:

“Yeah, just like the Jedi calling the Mandalorian wars a “great victory for the republic.””

Revan goes cold and says:

“A great sacrifice for peace, there was nothing good about that victory.”

Meetra says:

"I'm honestly happy to no longer be a Jedi, having to deal with that would've been a political nightmare."

Malak says:

"So why are you here?"

Meetra says:

"I've heard rumors of a new Sith lord rising."

Revan says:

"New Sith lord?"

Meetra says:

"A remnant of the Mandalorian wars, he calls himself Nihilus. Given how close you are both to the sith and the wars I would've thought you had heard of him."

Revan says:

"I've never heard of him no."

Malak says:

"He wasn't at the Sith gala."

Meetra says:

"The Sith have Galas?"

Zeravûn walks in with Ekhralon and says:

"Yes, they're quite a fun time, too much to drink though, I was hungover for the next week."

She turns around and sees him. She says:

"A pureblooded Korribani... you're supposed to be dead."

He says:

"Aren't we all."

And puts his arm out. She places it in his hand, and he kisses it. He says:

"I'm Zeravûn, pleasure to make your acquaintance."

Meetra says:

"I'm Meetra Surik, a Jedi in Exile."

She bows jokingly and says:

“Your heinous.”

He laughs and sits down saying:

“You should be around more often.”

Revan turns to him and says:

“Have you heard of a Darth Nihilus?”

Zeravûn thinks for a second and says:

“It doesn’t ring a bell.”

Malak says:

“Yeah, that’s where we landed on it.”

Meetra puts her hand out to Ekhralon and says:

“Nice to meet you.”

She shakes her hand and says:

“I’m also a Jedi in Exile. Well sort of, not officially.”

She smiles and says:

“A true band of thieves you’ve built.”

We transition to Bastila walking the hallways of the jedi temple, 2 council members are walking and stop her, one of the council member turns to her and says:

“We have information on Darth Revans movements, you are being ordered to bring him in.”

Bastila says:

“Great I get out of hospital and the first thing I have to do is hunt the guy who put me there.”

Another council member says:

“He’ll attempt to steal an artifact from an ancient Jedi temple, at which point you’ll intercept his fleet and board his ship, kidnapping him.”

Bastila says:

“Sounds great, except the part where he already almost killed me, what makes you think I’ll succeed this time in surviving?”

The first council member says:

“You survived your last encounter.”

She says:

“Barely.”

The second says:

“He left you alive, we all have no idea why, but he did.”

Bastila says:

“And if I get captured and tortured?”

The first member says:

“Then you get an inside look at star forge and where it is.”

Bastila says:

“The secret base of Darth Revan that’s inescapable. Do you not see the issue here?”

The second says:

“It’s been decided, unanimously, you’re going.”

Bastila groans as they leave and grabs her hair and turns around and walks stressed out.

We swipe cut back to Revan and the group; they’re entering their ship and Revan says to Meetra:

“If you like you can join us?”

Meetra says:

"For Sith business?"

Revan says:

"Business? This is pleasure."

And walks in. Meetra follows with a scoff and the ship door closes. We cut to them in hyper space. Meetra says:

"I've never seen a Sith ship from the inside before."

Revan and Malak both say together:

"They're basically the same."

Meetra smiles and says:

"Yeah, I can see that, a tin can between you and certain death, right?"

Revan smiles and says:

"It really is great having you around again."

Malak says:

“Where have you been this whole time?”

Meetra says:

“I told you.”

Malak says:

“No, vacation I get it, working I get it, but where in the galaxy?”

Meetra says:

“I spent some time in the coruscant underground then was able to get out to Ryloth and help some of the locals from the hutt slavers, spent some time on Telos 4 helping rebuild and then spent a stint on Ondoron, figuring out the dark side presence there.”

Revan says:

“So, keeping busy, no stable planets.”

She smiles and says:

“It’s not like you lot live a life of peace and luxury.”

Revan smiles and says:

“Guilt can destroy you, Meetra. Don’t let it.”

She looks over at him with a smile and says:

"I was going to say the same."

He looks into eyes with a soft smile. The ship drops out of hyperspace and lands on Tatooine. The group gets out and Zeravûn says:

"Malak and I will handle the Sith's goals. You enjoy your time."

Meetra, Revan and Ekhralon walk through the streets, the street sellers are trying to sell people items. Ekhralon says:

"So there's obviously a history here I don't know?"

Meetra says:

"Do you remember the Mandalorian wars? You would've been say 9 to 10 years old?"

Ekhralon says:

"I've heard about them."

Meetra says:

"This man led it, the council would not help us, and we had to fight the entire thing ourselves. We share a history of blood and brimstone."

Revan says:

"Quite literally."

Ekhralon says:

"And now you're a Jedi in Exile? For helping with the war?"

Meetra says:

"We ended the war, but not without bloodshed, they believed my support of Revan indicated that I was incapable of following the Jedi code."

Revan says:

"She was instrumental in ending the war and if it weren't for her none of us would be here today."

Ekhralon says:

"Why didn't they help?"

Meetra looks cold like Revan and says:

"Politics."

A street dealer says:

"My pod racer is the fastest in the galaxy!"

Revan turns around and says:

“You want to bet on that?”

The street dealer says:

“I am tonight, my bookie gives me a deal, we run a racket.”

Revan says:

“You’re very open with just literally stating the crime you’re participating in.”

The street dealer says:

“Says the sith lord walking through the street.”

Ekhralon says:

“Touché.”

Revan says:

“I bet I can beat your racer.”

The street dealer laughs and says:

“I’d like to see you try.”

Revan says:

“When is it?”

He says:

“The Regatta is tonight at midnight.”

Revan says:

“You’re on, 50,000 credits.”

The street dealer looks shocked. Revan says:

“I’ll see you there.”

And turns around. They start to walk away and Ekhralon says:

“You have a pod racer?”

Revan says:

“Nope, we’ll have to buy one.”

Meetra says:

“Just to spite a random person on Tatooine.”

Revan laughs and says:

“I told you, this isn’t business, it’s pleasure.”

We swipe cut back to Bastila and Seravé walking towards their ship with Jedi knights in tow. Seravé says:

“What is our mission?”

Bastila says:

“Our mission is to capture the Sith Lord Darth Revan, aka Revan the Butcherer.”

Seravé says:

“He has a nickname?”

Bastila says:

“You get a nickname when you’re either famous or infamous. In his case the latter.”

They enter the ship and Seravé says:

“Isn’t that the man who killed the Chancellor?”

Bastila says:

“You know, eavesdropping is a bad habit of yours.”

We use her walk through a door to transition to Revan walking through a door in Tatooine, an old pod race dealer is hovering at the counter snoring. The three of them look around, Revan says:

"The single easiest store to rob in the galaxy."

He claps loudly and the old man wakes up. Revan says:

"Good morning, I need to buy a racer."

The old man smiles and flies over, he says:

"You are not a pod racer."

Revan smiles and says:

"I need something powerful, fast, and preferably 2-4 engines."

The man says:

"Your funeral."

And flies over to a large 3 engine pod racer, one stabilizing in the back and 2 in the front. He indicates to it and Revan looks over and says:

"The rust cosmetic or a problem?"

The man says:

“It’s our most powerful, starting not guaranteed.”

Revan pulls out a bag of credits and puts it down. He says:

“I’ll take it.”

A garage door opens and the three of them push it out. Ekhralon says:

“So how are we going to get this thing working?”

Revan looks over and says:

“Meetra was the galaxy’s best engineer, if she can build a super weapon, she can get a pod racer working.”

Meetra says:

“Jedi tend to be good engineers.”

Revan picks the entire thing up with the force and they walk towards to hangers.

We cut to Zeravûn and Malak walking through the desert. Malak says:

“Sith business wasn’t vague at all.”

Zeravûn says:

“The sith empire wants to negotiate trade route protections with the hutts, we also want it such that they don’t raid our planets as much, 200 years ago we signed a treaty, a treaty they have broken ever since the Sith empire went more underground.”

Malak says:

“So you’re taking me to a political negotiation?”

Zeravûn says:

“No I’m taking you because I sense tension between you and Revan and thought you might want to talk.”

Malak sighs and says:

“When Revan and I fought in the Mandalorian wars, he was my best friend, a brother in arms, we watched each other.”

Zeravûn says:

“But?”

Malak says:

“But now he’s training Ekhralon and I don’t agree with his missions I mean what did killing the chancellor do?”

Zeravûn pauses and says:

“The Jedi look weak, a Sith was able to get into the heart of the Republic and kill their leader when one of their best Jedi was guarding him. The galaxy will ask questions.”

Malak says:

“So he’s fighting a war of image, not a war of war.”

Zeravûn says:

“How did Revan end the Mandalorian wars?”

Malak says:

“A mass shadow generator, it destroyed the planet.”

Zeravûn says:

“See, Revan doesn’t fight war like you or I, he isn’t focused on the singular goal of killing them, he won the war by doing the unthinkable, collaborating with the Sith, building a super weapon, and wiping out a planet. He’s a military general not a soldier.”

Malak says:

“I feel like day by day; he falls back towards the Jedi.”

Zeravûn raises and eyebrow and says:

“Really? You think Revan the Butcherer is becoming a Jedi again.”

Malak says:

"He coddles her, he doesn't believe in the faith, he believes in peace, the Sith hate, that's what defines us, and he doesn't feel that."

Zeravûn pauses and says:

"If you're so uncomfortable then take control."

Malak says:

"Betray Revan?"

Zeravûn says:

"You're a capable Sith lord, you obviously have your own way of waging war, so take control and make it so. If you die, you were never meant to succeed, if you don't and you do succeed then you get to control the Realm of Shadows."

Malak smiles coldly and says:

"I wouldn't think you'd suggest something so evil."

Zeravûn says:

"I've seen the rise and fall of quite a few Sith lords, one more dying isn't going to change anything. Revan is a friend, but he's also a person, and people fail people."

We swipe cut to Revan in a hanger. He takes the pod racer apart using the force and a rat jumps out of the pipes. Ekhralon zaps it with red force lightning turning it to ash. Revan says:

"Alright, let's remove all of this extra weight."

He removes all the colored panels leaving a black titanium exoskeleton. Meetra says:

"Are you sure they're not structural?"

Revan says:

"Won't matter, we'll reinforce everything, more importantly we need some weapons."

Ekhralon says:

"I don't think you're allowed weapons."

Revan says:

"We're not allowed guns or anything that directly kills someone, but we could use a small, reversed shadow generator."

Meetra says:

"What?"

Revan says:

“Think about it, a low powered version when reversed could push other pod racers out of the way, causing a crash, significant slowdown or disqualification without being banned.”

Meetra says:

“So you want me to create a smaller super weapon?”

Revan says:

“Exactly, so it becomes just a weapon, or not really it becomes more of a breeze.”

She looks concerned and says:

“Revan the last time I built one we destroyed a planet.”

Revan says:

“Don’t worry the only thing we’ll be destroying today is the leaderboard.”

She sighs and says:

“How were you planning on powering it?”

Revan says:

“How about these.”

He drops a glowing bag of kyber crystals. Meetra says:

“Fallen Jedi?”

Revan says:

“I’m not known as the butcherer because I take them to a steak house Meetra.”

He moves the seat out of the racer, and it crashes on the ground on the other side of the room. Ekhralon says:

“Don’t racers usually use a seat?”

Revan says:

“Excess weight, it also allows us to create a central area for all of the power, engines, and obviously the shadow generator, keeping center of mass in the center.”

Meetra raises an eyebrow and says:

“When did you become an engineer?”

Revan says:

“You need to know these things, it’s basic physics.”

Ekhralon says:

“Alright so we’ve reduced most of the weight, what now?”

Revan says:

"We'll need to shorten the distance between engines and body to keep the weight to thrust consistent and stable at high speeds. The back will have to be closer than the front so there's no thrust destabilization."

Meetra says:

"So if we're using these piece of shit engines, what are we running them on?"

Revan says:

"We'll be running them on the rest of those kyber crystals, we'll retrofit them to use plasma."

Meetra says:

"You want to use a bunch of kyber crystals for fuel?"

Revan says:

"That shouldn't be an issue for you, should it?"

She pauses and says:

"Nope, just wondering are you trying to kill yourself?"

Revan laughs and says:

“Of course not.”

She says:

“Great, because this won’t be the fastest pod racer in the galaxy, it’ll be the fastest everything in the galaxy, you’ll be ripped off and die.”

Revan says:

“Don’t worry about me.”

He attaches some straps to a metal sheet and bends it over the monocoque and says:

“See, I won’t go flying away.”

Ekhralon says:

“I still don’t know why you want to stand.”

Revan says:

“I have unique force projection abilities, I can see what an opponent is doing beforehand, only a couple seconds, it’s what helps the most in fights but in terms of the race, the more I can see, the better I can race.”

Ekhralon says:

“So it is functional and not just you going insane and wanting to look cool?”

Revan says:

"Exactly."

Meetra says:

"It's also him going insane and wanting to look cool."

She turns around and takes out 4 kyber cystals. We swipe cut to Zeravûn and Malak arriving at the hut palace.

Zeravûn says:

"Alright, the hutts are touchy just don't use your weapon."

Malak says:

"We could just kill them all."

Zeravûn says:

"Yes of course, remind me what great political advisor once said, "Just kill all of them that'll work.""

Malak looks away annoyed and says:

"You don't have to be an asshole."

The stalk comes out on the wall of the palace, and it doesn't speak. The doors open and guards are waiting for them. Zeravûn and Malak walk in and down the hallways, the guards try to touch Zeravûn's sword, he force throws the guard against the wall and draws it. The rest of the guards start shouting at him and Malak says:

"Yeah just don't use your weapon right."

Zeravûn puts down the guard and puts away his sword and keeps walking. A guard runs over to check on his friend as the two Sith lords walk through the hutt palace. They arrive at the upper levels (this is 4000 years before Jabba, so the palace is very different to how it is then, a small hutt council presides over the palace at the peak.) They walk in and Zeravûn says:

"My dear friends, thank you for allowing us to enter your wonderful home."

The head of the hutts speaks and Zeravûn says:

"Yes, I am sorry, he tried to touch my weapon, it's of great religious and cultural significance, I can't risk losing it. You understand right?"

The head of the hutts thinks for a second and then speaks. Zeravûn laughs and says:

"Wonderful, again sorry but he should be alright, we're just hear to discuss potential trade route negotiations, our transports keep getting attacked."

They both sit down on 2 guest chairs around a small table with fruit. Zeravûn rips a grape looking fruit off the table and crunches it under his spiked teeth. The head of the Hutts speaks and Zeravûn says:

"Of course."

He clicks his fingers and Malak presents a paper. Zeravûn puts on some dark black titanium glasses and says:

"Let's see here."

He trails down the paper. Zeravûn says:

"As I'm sure you are aware, the Sith empire and the Hutt families agreed upon a peace agreement over 200 years ago, I have in my hand the ratified copy. It says here that "The sith shall not attack any Hutt affiliated lands including but not limited to the hutt home world, hutt space, the hutt trading routes, the hutt palaces, the hutt spice mines, and any other hutt affiliated space or places, unless asked to by the hutts, in exchange for the hutt's full cooperation including but not limited to the free movement of Sith transports in all Hutt space and worlds, the immediate notification of the Sith empire of potential bandits and attackers before major shipments move through hutt space and of course, the assistance of the hutts in matters relating to the recovery of stolen Sith shipments. Now as far as I can see, we didn't receive notification, nor have the hutts cooperated with recovery efforts which means you are in breach of contract."

The hutt leader thinks of a second then speaks, Zeravûn responds:

"You are still bound by this peace agreement and as I'm sure you are aware it ended a war between the hutts and the Sith, one we were winning, to not remedy this failure will be an open declaration of war."

The council goes silent, and we transition to Revan with his new pod racer.

The engines are closer together, the center glows red with pipes leading to all engines, and right behind it is a glowing white machine. Revan cracks open an in-universe beer, and the rest do too. They sit down and watch it floating and glowing. Ekhralon says:

"So how do you use it?"

Revan swipes his hand and flicks his fingers and the engine fire into a red glow. Ekhralon says:

"Ah so you ride it using the force."

Revan says:

"So, after wards anyone who's not a force user can't ride it."

Meetra says:

"Not that they'd want too anyway."

They stare at the engines burning and glowing a bright red. Revan says:

"If the Sith built pod racers, this would be it."

Meetra says:

"It might even become an artifact in the force, talked about for generations to come."

Revan laughs and says:

"There's always hope right?"

Ekhralon notices that sentence and thinks about it for a second. She says:

"When was the last time you two spoke?"

Meetra says:

"Revan said goodbye to me when he left with a Sith general to uncharted space. I had to go back to the council."

Ekhralon says:

"And they exiled you?"

Meetra looks deeply at the ground as we fade into a flash back as she says:

"No. They almost executed me."

We see the Jedi council members in a trial, Meetra is standing still covered in blood, wearing Mandalorian armor. A council member says:

"You've been collaborating with a traitor, assisted in committing genocide, and are a known friend to Sith lords how do you plead?"

Meetra says:

"Guilty."

Quietly. Another council member says:

"Can you repeat that."

She says with a raised voice almost shouting:

“GUILTY!”

The room goes silent. A council member says:

“You feel no remorse?”

Meetra starts to tear up and says:

“I regret my actions every day, but if I had to go back in time, I’d do them all again. We won the war, we ended a genocide, the casualties are just collateral damage.”

The head of the council says:

“Collateral damage?”

Meetra says:

“We did what you cowards would never even consider doing. We won at any cost, and you sit there and judge me? ME?!”

The council moves uncomfortable in their chairs then one says:

“The price for genocide is death.”

Meetra says:

“Then so be it. You can’t fight a war, but you’ll kill someone with the balls to do what you couldn’t.”

Bastila walks in and says:

"May I speak?"

There's a silence and the head of the council indicates to her to speak. Bastila says:

"I was a soldier in their company; I served my Master who's now dead and I saw the state of the war. It was unwinnable traditionally. The only way to stop the advance of the Mandalorians was to cut them off properly."

A council member says:

"You expect us to believe your testimony?"

Bastila says:

"You would've done worse to win, that is if you had actually fought. Is this genocide? Yes. But it's a merciful one... if that's even possible."

The council pauses and says:

"What's your name knight?"

She says:

"Bastila. Bastila Shan."

The council member thinks for a second. Then he says:

“We won’t execute Meetra, but from this day forth she is exiled from the Jedi order, you cannot step foot on any Jedi soil, Jedi temples are off limits to heretics, and if you are seen again in the temple you’ll be arrested, tried without appeal and executed.”

There’s a silence. Then he says:

“Take her away.”

The templar guards drag her out of the room. She mouths:

“Thank you.”

To Bastila as she leaves. Bastila turns to leave and the council member says:

“Hang on Bastila.”

Bastila stops and says:

“Yes?”

The council member thinks for a second and says:

“You showed great bravery in defending your commander, despite you betraying the Jedis wishes in joining the war, you have shown morality, kindness, and above all else honesty. From this day on you will join the council as a Master and take on an apprentice, serving the order as we decide.”

She looks shocked and says:

“Of course, thank you master.”

As she bows, we fade back to the hanger. Ekhralon says:

“Wow, so that woman you almost killed is responsible for your friend not dying?”

Revan stops and says:

“Well now I feel like shit.”

Meetra says:

“She is a jedi through and through.”

Revan says:

“It doesn’t matter, she saved you, that’s worth something.”

Meetra sighs and says:

“What’s done is done, we better get this to the race.”

Revan jumps on it, and the hanger doors open as he rides through the streets, the others walk beside him. Ekhralon says:

“Are you sure about this?”

Revan says:

"You tell me."

He powers up the engines and jumps the pod racer and lands. She says:

"How does it feel?"

Revan says:

"Like a 2-tonne extension of my body."

They ride past another pod racer, and he stares as the engines scream a low guttural and violent scream. The pod racer throws his helmet on the ground and goes into the back room. We use the door slam to smash cut to the starting line.

A man says:

"WELCOME LADIIIIIES AND GENTLEMEN! TO THE 60th ANNUAL TATOOINE RAGATTA!"

The crowd cheers as flames fire from the crowd's chairs. Revan is leaning on his speeder as the others get in their seats and start revving. The man continues:

"TONIGHT, WE HAVE 12 RACERS FOR YOU! EACH WILLING TO RISK THEIR LIVES IN THE VALLEY OF DEATH FOR THE GLORY OF TAKING HOME THE GRAND 60th ANNIVERSARY TROPHY."

Revan looks over to the other side of the racetrack, a gold glowing trophy can be seen glistening in the torch light. The man says:

“START UP YOUR ENGINES!”

Revan jumps up onto the speeder and seals his feet in. We get a shot of the casters speaking:

“This is highly unlikely a pod racer without a seat!”

The other caster say:

“This is either the worst or the best idea in pod racing history! I’m literally on the edge of my seat!”

They both fake laugh and we cut to Revan as Gatti by pop smoke starts to play. The lights start to turn, as the lights go green the beat drops and Revan sits as the rest fire off and fly. He adjusts his gloves and bends down then flicks his hand forward, the speeder fires up and screams off 3 times as quick. We cut to the casters, and one says:

“What a confident power play!”

The other says:

“So many new strategies tonight.”

We cut to Revan flying through the racetrack, he sees two pod racers smashing together in the middle of the track he moves to their side and activates the Shadow Generator, the pod on the right smashes into the one of the left and they both flip and crash. Revan accelerates and bursts past another pod racer, he looks up at rock coming up, his arm starts exploding with lightning and he fires at the rock knocking it off and crushing the racer behind him. He catches up to 8th place and salutes him as he passes, the racer tries to smash into him, Revan accelerates suddenly, then starts to slow down in front of him, effectively brake checking him before a major jump, he then out accelerates him and jumps the gap, the other fails and blows up. Revan catches up to 7th and 6th place, they enter a canyon and Revan flips to the side of the canyon and accelerates past both others, a Tatooine hunter fires a blaster shot at Revan, he absorbs the shot and redirects it at 6th place's engine blowing up the racer and destroying 7 in the process. He then maxes the acceleration of his speeder, he gets in line with 2 more speeders fighting over position as he continues to ride the side of the canyon then jumps it like a snowboard hill and when upside down and above 5th and 4th he fires red force lightning blowing up both of them, he lands and catches up to 3rd place, he passes effortlessly activating the shadow generator throwing the pod racer into a rock. He flies up to first and second, the music cuts as he watches and sees a kid in second place in the fast racer from the beginning. The kid takes over the first place, Revan smiles seeing that, and then the second-place racer pulls out a weapon and fires on the boy. His pod blows up, and kid goes flying, Revan jumps and grabs the kid but must divert, which takes him off track and he goes the wrong way. He drifts around a corner and tries to catch back up. The now first place is firing on Revan as they arrive to the finish line, Revan absorbs a blaster shot and redirects it at the pod racer blowing him up, Revan jumps and flips over him and lands in first place slowing down as the pod racer's parts blow up around him and he crosses the finish line. The crowd cheers violently. Meetra and Ekhralon look horrified as they see the child has been impaled. Revan is smiling with his arm up and then looks down. His face drops and he jumps down and puts the kid on the ground. He pulls out the metal rod and tries to force heal him, but the boy is already dead. He struggles as his face tears up. His eyes blare yellow, as he struggles to force heal him. The crowd is silent as he shouts:

"COME ON! JUST HEAL!"

A dark gravity surrounds Revan as he tries his hardest to save the kid, the ground starts to shake and split as the force tears around him. Shouts:

"COME ON!"

The lights start bursting around them as Ekhralon and Meetra come up to him. Revan gives up and things die down; the kids mother runs over and collapses on the boy crying. The man from before is talking to one of the bookies behind them and he says:

"I told you the kid would fail, the speeder was too fast to control."

Revan turns around his eyes fully yellow. Meetra says:

"Revan, don't."

Revan stands up and walks towards him and shouts:

"YOU HAD A CHILD KILLED SO YOU COULD FIX A RACE?!"

The man smiles wryly and says:

"You know how it is."

Revan's eyes blare blood red and red force lightning starts firing around his arms arcing with the ground. We see a Jedi in the stand with a younger knight. The knight tries to stand up and grips his lightsaber, the older master grabs his shoulder and rips him back down into his seat. We see the look on the Master's face, stern but terrified. We cut to the gambling man as realizes and starts to run away, but he's overweight, he waddles down the track to the victory line as Revan approaches, powering up. Meetra shouts:

"REVAN!"

Revan's eyes blare blood red as the lightning starts to turn black, now arcing with the random people in the stands turning them to ash as he walks, the man runs terrified, we see Revan's face as he shouts:

"KORRIBAN!"

and blasts the man with black force lightning vaporizing him instantly. Revan doesn't stop though, the black lightning setting fire to the victory line. He stops the lightning trying to hold back, but he can't stop the rage, his eyes turn black as he starts to shout, lightning sparks off his entire body and gets more and more powerful, then he screams and his body opens as a black wave blows out from his body in a sphere, blowing up and vaporizing half of the crowd and creating a huge crater in the race track. Ekhralon and Meetra watch on in horror. We cut to Zeravûn and Malak watching in horror from a TV in the hutt palace. Zeravûn says:

"Maybe don't fight him one on one yeah?"

And he leaves as Malak watches Revan kneel on the floor in the crater. We cut back to Meetra and Ekhralon walking up to the crater. Meetra says:

"Revan?"

Revan turns to her, teeth gripping eyes a deep black. He starts to breath as he sees her face with tears in her eyes. He calms down electricity still firing from his hands, it turns red as he puts his mask back on and says:

"Let's go."

He force jumps up and sees the mother hugging her child. He looks over to the trophy as tell më by YEAT plays and force grabs it smashing through the glass, he walks up to them as everyone watches and places it in the kids' hands and rests it on his chest and hugs the mother and says:

"It'll be ok."

We cut to the two jedi, the master gone, along with the rest of the audience stand, completely vaporized. The knight turns to see his master gone and a drop below him. He looks out at Revan in horrified shock. Revan stands up as the beat drops and without looking he blows up his speeder with force lightning as he leaves. We cut to the casters in absolute horror not speaking. The crowd is silent as they watch the mother weep in the middle of the track holding her sons hand. We cut to Revan and group walking back to their ship as the locals shut their doors and run inside. Malak and Zeravûn are waiting. Revan walks past them and enters the ship, everyone walks in, Meetra last and she looks out to Tatooine as the door slams shut as we smash cut to credits.
