REVAN

Season 1 - The Butcherer

Revan – Episode 03 – Training

We open to Ekralon in the training room in star forge and she's standing with her light saber with the Sith looking on at her and Revan. Revan starts:

"What fighting forms do you know?"

Ekhralon says:

"I was trained in 2, 3 and 5."

Revan says:

"Great, a mix of offense and defensive stratagems. You will learn the rest of them."

Ekhralon says:

"I have to learn all of them?"

Revan says:

"Most Jedi are taught 1 to about 3 styles, some know most of them, very few, if any know all of them."

Ekhralon says:

"Arrogant much?"

Revan says:

“Don’t believe me?”

Ekhralon says:

“No I do, and that’s kind of the point.”

He smiles and says:

“We’ll start though with the most important lesson you’ll learn.”

She says:

“And that is?”

Revan says:

“The weak die. So don’t be weak.”

She rolls her eyes and says:

“How simple…”

He lights his lightsaber and says:

“We’ll duel and throughout I’ll show you what I mean.”

She lights her lightsaber and says:

“Fine, give it your best shot.”

They duel for a short period of time, Revan uses Trakata but stops right before hitting her and she says:

“That’s cheating.”

He says:

“There is no cheating, this is war.”

She says:

“No, it’s a duel.”

He says:

“In real combat you’ll come to find that rules no longer matter.”

She pauses and says:

“So why learn the forms then?”

He says:

“They’re mostly suggestions.”

They separate and he says:

“Good first attempt though, you’re watching correctly, foot work is good.”

She says:

“When you found me you barely even fought us.”

Revan says:

“That’s mostly experience, and a force ability difference.”

She says:

“If anyone can be beaten by a stronger force user, then what’s the point in learning how to fight?”

Revan says:

“I just showed a technique that no Jedi or Sith will ever use.”

She says:

“Why not?”

Revan says:

“The Jedi believe it’s dishonorable or cheating as you put it, the Sith cowardly. Their faith’s systems of morality tell them to never use it.”

She says:

“So, you can take advantage of that.”

Revan smiles and says:

“Exactly, and the next technique is the same.”

He activates his blade repeater, an additional piece of technology that power cycles the blade to a repetitive pattern and says:

“This is a blade repeater, a simple addition you can add to you lightsaber.”

She says:

“What does it do?”

Revan says:

“The blade flashes on and off at a certain frequency, you can also program it to change frequency.”

She says:

“That seems useless.”

He smiles and says:

“Let’s find out.”

They duel again for a short period of time and the blade naturally slips behind hers, he pauses again holding her arm that was about to hit him and says:

“See a blade repeater is Trakata but timed, if you memorize the timing, then you can block any swing and hit anyone.”

She sighs and says:

“So you have to learn more math?”

He smiles and says:

“No, but it also confuses the hell out of whoever you’re fighting.”

He says:

“Now that I’ve covered some basics, we have a training simulation for all 7 forms you’re going to do.”

She says:

“ALL 7?!”

Revan says:

“No all 4, of course 7.”

He activates a console, and a droids enters the arena from the ground. He stands in the center with her. He points at it, as it demonstrates and says:

"Form 1 Shii Cho. A simplistic ancient fight form, it's combated simply by being faster. Go ahead..."

She walks up to it and starts to duel the droid, after a short while she cuts through it, winning the fight. Catching her breath Revan says:

"Good but you doubt yourself too much, you need to commit to a swing more, and stop being defensive."

He points to the next as it comes out of the ground and demonstrates:

"Form 2 Makashi, elegant precise, this is the faster."

She says:

"I know 2 already."

The droid goes back into the ground and the third rises, he says:

"Form 3 Soresu, defensive fighting form, good for deflecting blaster bolts."

She says:

"We're fighting Jedi, what do blasters matter?"

Revan raises an eyebrow moves his robe to the side revealing a blaster on his hip. He says:

"More options are better than less."

There's a pause and then he says:

"We're going to run a test."

She says:

"What is it?"

He says:

"We're going to see what you have."

He presses a button on the command panel and all 7 droids rise from the ground and says:

"You ready?"

Ekhralon says:

"I can't do this!"

Revan tells her and Malak sees:

"You can do whatever you put your mind to; we'll go 1 at a time to start."

She stands in the center, and struggles to take out forms 1, 2, 3, and 5. The defensive and older forms. Then 4 and 7 attack her simultaneously. She loses her lightsaber, and force jumps back, Revan intervenes crushing the droids as she curls up in the corner of the ring. She stands up as he enters the ring and says putting his hand out:

"You're focusing on the hands of the enemy, which is good, but you need to trust more in the force, feel their intentions."

Ekhralon shouts:

"They're robots I can't feel them!"

He pauses and says:

"That's a good point."

She grabs his hand and stands up as he says:

"Now, form 8 I want you to try alone, I won't intervene this time."

She groans and says:

"There's an eight?"

He smiles pressing a button on the command panel and an eighth robot rises from the ground.

She force grabs her lightsaber, and holds it out a little terrified, it's using a dual bladed repeater activated lightsaber and flipping it around. Revan shouts:

“Look at the pattern!”

Ekhralon sees the pattern of the lightsaber, it flashes 3 times on, pauses for 1 flash then back to three, as it approaches her, she decides to strike. It intercepts the strike, she stumbles back but recovers, she tries again and it slides through the blade, taking out the droid, cutting cleanly through the random pattern. She watches it fall and screams:

“YES! I DID IT!”

Revan claps looking on. Malak is watching Revan clap for Ekhralon and not him with jealousy. Revan turns to Malak and says:

“She did well…”

Malak says:

“Yeah, I saw.”

Looking at him with a burning gaze. Revan realizes his jealously and says:

“Come on, this is the hardest test in the galaxy, you have to admit skill when you see it.”

Malak says:

“I don’t have to for a jedi.”

Malak turns to leave, and Revan grabs and drags him toward him and says:

“What did you say?!”

Malak is brought into a kneeling position and says:

“I don’t have to admit shit for a Jedi.”

Revan says darkly:

“I was a Jedi, and a better warrior than any Sith alive, including you. Not to mention...”

He pauses and says,

“So were you, you don’t have to respect her, but don’t forget where we come from Malak.”

Malak stands up and leaves waving him off and says:

“Whatever Revan.”

Revan stares him down as he leaves, Ekhralon is looking over at him in horror, and he looks over at her and calms down. He walks over to her and puts his hand out and says:

“Well done, come on. We’ll get proper food.”

We cut to Bastila with her padawan, she says:

“What’s the most important thing when you confront a Sith?”

The padawan thinks for a second and responds:

“Hold it in?”

Bastila looks stunned and says:

“What?!”

Her padawan says:

“I said remain calm?”

Bastila raises an eyebrow and says:

“Uh huh… exactly.”

We cut to Malak fighting against the droids as she says:

“The Sith are angry, powerful forces, you need to comprehend their strategy and fighting style, before they start.”

On the “before they start” he blasts droid 8 with lightning. And stands as it falls. We cut back to Bastila and the padawan, Bastila says:

“Most Sith will never beat true calm because they can’t see the whole battlefield.”

The padawan starts to train against a droid, and Bastila says:

“Use the environment, most Jedi and Sith won’t.”

She forces pushes the leg of the droid moving it to decapitate it. Bastila says:

"Exactly, use your opponent's weaknesses against them surgically."

Bastila presses a panel, and 4 more droids raise up. One fires on her padawan, and she redirects the blast killing the droid and Bastila says:

"Perfect 5."

The padawan back flips and throws her saber eliminating 2 of them them effortlessly grabs it and defends against an attack, rolls forward and immediately engages form 7, aggressive relentless and eliminates the other 2. She stands still, and an image of Ekhralon flashes over her in the same stance as a harsh electric noise blares and it cuts back. Bastila says:

"Amazing! You might genuinely beat Revan. Calm always beats rage and power."

The padawan says:

"So, peace is stronger?"

Bastila says:

"Stronger and Wiser."

We smash cut to Revan and Ekhralon. Ekhralon says:

"Why study all 7 forms?"

Revan looks down and says:

"Power is raw, messy, and it needs to be directed. The Jedi believe that remaining calm will keep them alive, able to see everything, but they're idiots."

Ekhralon says:

"How are you so sure?"

Revan says:

"Because they have the symptom not the cause, calm works but it isn't what creates a balanced force user. One needs to accept both light and dark in their respective wholes. Not repress one by attempting to ignore it exists."

Ekhralon says:

"So, we're taught to balance the two, but because we can't accept that they're the same but opposite, we accidentally create a weaker balance than someone like you."

Revan says:

"You tell me, I'm 567 to 0, every Jedi I've engaged in combat is dead, and there's a reason for that."

Ekhralon says:

"So... you're a monster."

Revan says:

"Yes, and they're incompetent."

Ekhralon says:

"They can't all be."

Revan says:

"Then why did they send a master responsible for training a peace corps after me and not soldiers?"

Ekhralon laughs and says:

"Maybe they think you're not worth it."

Revan laughs and says:

"I have the biggest bounty in the galaxy, and fought in the Mandolorian wars, my theory? They're buying time to train new soldiers."

He stops, looks down at his food and says:

"You know, the Mandalorians painted a mural in my memory, the man who defeated Mandalore the Great, the man who didn't crush their forces, but wiped out their futures..."

Ekhralon says:

“So, I’m in good hands then?”

Revan says sarcastically as he continues walking:

“Sure, your old master would be so proud of you.”

She laughs and says:

“Can you teach me force lightning?”

Revan says:

“It’s possible but also requires a certain level of pain and hatred to pull off.”

She says:

“I never understood how that worked…”

He says:

“You just have to compress every second of your pain into a single emotion and release it in the general direction of your enemy. The trick is focusing on a memory, one that you can’t think about for long because it’s too hard.”

She says:

“Alright. I’ll try it.”

She closes her eyes in the lunchroom and starts to focus. Revan can see the lights flicker and the dishes rise into the middle of the room. The other Sith watch on in shock. She opens her eyes screaming and red lightning fires from her hands hitting a Sith and setting fire to him. Revan says:

"Yeah, exactly like that, just a worse memory."

Putting food on his dish. The others walk around her and walk away. She says:

"Do they not like me?"

Revan says:

"You just did what most force users can't with 15 years of training, not because they're not powerful enough but because they haven't experienced enough. They don't hate you, they're afraid of you."

She pauses and then says:

"Is fear better than love?"

Revan laughs and says:

"I'm not sure, I do know that no one can betray fear, but love? ... Everyone eventually does."

We cut to the Jedi council, Jedi one is standing in the center and says:

"Recently we heard news that a new Jedi padawan has been spotted in Reven's company."

Jedi 2 says:

"Alright so she's alive."

Jedi 1 says:

"But there's a catch..."

Jedi 3 says:

"A catch?"

Jedi 1 says:

"According to our sources she's being trained, not tortured for information."

Jedi 2 says:

"Great so she's now a Sith, is she important?"

Jedi 1 turns on an image and says:

"Oh, you know, she's just the only Chiss force user in the last 1500 years but no biggie."

Jedi 2 says:

"She's Chiss?!"

Jedi 3 says:

"So, she's definitely Arlek's padawan."

Jedi 1 says:

"And now she's been accepted into the realm of shadows. Which means Revan is training her, she's now the most dangerous 16-year-old in the galaxy."

Jedi 2 says:

"She didn't come up on our database of significant Jedi before, what makes her so dangerous now?"

Jedi 3 shouts:

"It's the realm of shadows, THE sith assassins, and you're standing there like a jedi converting to them is nothing. This is the most reclusive and dangerous group in the galaxy."

Jedi 1 says:

"I move forward the notion to put a 1,000,000 credit bounty on her head."

Bastila walks in and says:

"1,000,000 credits for a teenager? Every day I increasingly question your decisions..."

Jedi 1 says:

"She's not just dangerous, she could be an image for Chiss aggression, if she proves a Chiss can join the most dangerous assassin order in the galaxy, the Chiss might re-enter the galaxy."

Bastila says:

"So?"

Jedi 3 laughs and says:

"SO?! As force users they were unaligned, always talking about peace through balance, absorption of both sides. They're a threat."

Bastila raises her arm and says:

"Alright, you're the men. You know best."

We cut to Starforge, the robot zombies standing in rows, in the back, harsh mechanical sounds rip through the forge. Revan says:

"Once you become one of us there's no going back..."

She says:

"Do you want the truth?"

Revan pauses and says:

“I expect it.”

She says:

“I never truly felt welcomed in the Jedi temple, I was an outsider and didn’t know why, no one taught me who I was, just what I was expected to be.”

Revan says:

“And here?”

She says:

“I think we’re all outsiders. That’s the point and at least we don’t lie about it.”

Revan moves toward her with a glowing red signit and says:

“This will sting.”

She braces and he places the brand on her upper back; she reacts but doesn’t scream.

He says:

“Virtue without understanding is no virtue at all. They pretended to accept you, but they didn’t, they just allowed you to exist.”

He lifts her shirt back up and sits next to her. She says:

“Here you allow people to live.”

He pauses and she says:

“Why kidnap me? It wasn’t for me.”

He says:

“Part of me felt you deserved to know the truth, you very well might be the only Chiss force sensitive currently practicing.”

She says:

“And…”

He says:

“You got back up. After being struck down, you got back up.”

She says:

“Well I thought you were going to kill me.”

He says:

“You rarely see that level of bravery, someone who can comprehend their death, staring it down and accepting it.”

She says:

“Does that make me special?”

He laughs and says:

“Maybe.”

There’s a pause and he says:

“The more terrifying thing… is it makes you similar to me.”

She pauses and says:

“You see yourself in me?”

He says:

“Tragedy and all.”

Sith warriors sitting with arms replaced with metal ones eating. A symbol can be seen burned into their upper back. We hear an electric razor in the distance and cut to her shaving her hair off. Revan walks in and sees her and she says:

“I didn’t think it was me anymore.”

Revan leans on the door and says:

“It’s very common, people remove one of the only pieces of identity they have when they feel they don’t have one anymore.”

He takes of his helmet and places it down. He says:

“Are you ready for your first mission?”

She pauses and says:

“I don’t think I could be more ready.”

Trance by Metro booming starts as Malak, Revan and Ekhralon are in their ship and drop out of hyper speed. Revan and Malak get into position. Ekhralon stands next to Revan. The ship flies down to the planet and they land all 3.

The Jedi around them fire up their lightsabers as the music cuts. The three start to fight everyone, the music comes back in faded into the background, like an ethereal element of the environment. The sounds of the actions. Visceral, raw and unflinching, yet still a sci-fi, electric energy.

Ekhralon dodges a lightsaber like Revan and backflips into a decapitation like Revan does in episode 1 and the master looks on as the apprentice can’t defend against her. Revan stands in front of him and puts his saber out. The master attempts to fight him but Revan slides back and fires force lightning, burning him alive. We see Ekhralon is no challenge for the Jedi that previously bullied her. She cuts through them like butter with her blue light saber. Malak takes on 6 at a time, effortlessly then explodes using force destruction, destroying 12 that surround him.

Revan walks calmly as the other 2 continue to fight. The master leading the Jedi temple lights his light saber, a purple one. He forces jumps at Revan and Revan uses to Trakata to instantly cut him down, his head hits the ground, and his body collapses. The others seeing this realize how far gone they are and start to run.

Ekhralon deactivates her lightsaber and starts to loot the bodies, Malak hunts them down as Revan walks into the Jedi temple as the sound fades and all we hear is him walking through its halls, echoing. A jedi templar knight lights his lightsaber and holds it out toward him. Revan doesn't stop and continues walking. The templar knight charges, and Revan dodges the attack activating his purple blade and slashing him 3 times like fencing, clean, quick, no fancy moves. The templar knight turns around and now wounded tries to fight back. Revan force chokes him and Ekhralon and Malak enter. He snaps his neck and his body drops. Revan says:

"Find the holocrons."

Ekhralon breathing heavy says:

"We're here to steal reading material?"

Malak laughs and Revan says:

"Just go find the holocrons!"

The others run around finding the Jedi and Sith holocrons in the temple and take them out in duffle bags and enter their ship, Ekhralon looks out at the temple as the ship leaves and says:

"I would be sorry but... I'm not."

It takes off. We sit in the scene for a second, cutting between the different jedi who've been cut down. We cut to the door, as a Jedi padawan walks out slowly and suddenly goes white. He looks out over the 60+ Jedi that are now dead in front of the temple, there's a horror backing song as he says:

"Master?"

As we echo out to Bastila and her apprentice training a council member walks up and says:

"Bastila. We need you."

Bastila says:

"Tell me."

As her apprentice is fighting. The council member whispers to her, and she spins around and shouts:

"He did WHAT?!"

The padawan stops and drops her helmet and says:

"What's up?"

Bastila looks at her horrified as Dies Irae plays as smash cut to the desecrated jedi temple as Bastila and her Padawan arrive walk out and see the bodies lying on the ground.

We get a top-down look at everything as we smash cut to credits.
